31st Last Day For Car Insp.

"The semi-annual inspection period for motor vehicles ends on October 31st," warned Col. Francis McCabe, Chief, Maine State Police, today.

"Starting November 1st, state police will be on the lookout for cars which do not carry October inspection stickers," he continued. "Failure to comply with the inspection law makes an individual liable to a fine of not more than $100, or to imprisonment for not more than ninety days, or to both such fine and imprisonment. Don't fail to get that sticker before the first of 'No month'."

Chief McCabe also urged car owners to make certain that they receive a complete and careful inspection.

"Make sure," he cautioned, "that everything is in first class condition. Driving an automobile properly, especially during the winter months which lie ahead of us, requires a high degree of skill, good judgement, sound common sense, and a vehicle that is in the best possible condition."

COMMUNITY ROOM COMMITTEE MEETS

The Community Room Committee met at the Community Room Tuesday evening at 8 p. m. with the following present: Marjorie Freeman, Henry Hastings, Olive Lurvey, Dorothy Christie, Harriett Noyes and representing the PTA were J. Jay Willard, Gertrude Hutchins and Elizabeth Bane.

Report of the last meeting was given. Noted that the purchase of some more chairs has not been completed as yet, also that the project of putting some wooden reinforcements across the large plate glass windows hasn't been done. It is hoped that these will be completed before another meeting.

The Eliza T. Cooper School of Dancing has approached the chairman about the use of the room for this coming season. It was decided that they might use the room for $200 per day, but this will not include janitor services.

It was decided to put a set of rules in a conspicuous place in the room. These rules to apply not only to the Canteens but to all users of the room.

It was decided to purchase at least two cords sawed hardwood and that Marjorie Freeman is to see about some wood from Chadbourne's such as we get each year. Voted to see about a shut-off for the water pipes so that the water and toilet facilities may be available when the room is in use.

The P. T. A. Canteen Committee members were present and we discussed at some length the Canteens, the organization of them, chaperoning, etc. Our group voted to have the rooms available for Canteens and to cooperate all we can with them, the P. T. A. members to have the final say as to when they will be held.

Marjorie Freeman will continue to take the bookings for the room. Harriett Noyes is to see that the rules for room are in the printed and posted in a conspicuous place. Some rules to be:

1. None but responsible adults are to build and tend the fires.
2. No Canteen will be held without at least four chaperons.
3. Each person that books the use of the room is to be responsible for the room at the time for

ALL HAVE JOB IN PROMOTING TRAFFIC SAFETY

"Each of us has a definite and a particular responsibility in the constant struggle to reduce traffic accidents," observes Harold I. Goss, Secretary of State.

M. Goss suggested that each one of us pause for a moment and ask himself this question: "What is my part in the highway safety program?"

"The answer to this question should be crystal clear," he added. "If I am a motorist, it is my duty to obey all traffic regulations always, and to extend courtesy to all others on the road. If I am a pedestrian, I must remember that drivers also have rights. If I am a parent or a teacher, I am morally obliged to impress the need for safety upon the children under my care. This, I must do not once, not twice, but continually, for children forget."

Want ever my line of work, I have an opportunity to influence the thinking of others. As a business man, a salesman, a doctor, a factory worker, a lawyer, etc., it is my privilege and my duty to express my self definitely on the subject of highway conduct. I must never underestimate the value of public opinion, and I should remember that I can help to form that opinion.

When each of us realizes that he has an important part to play, and when each individual in the highway safety effort adds the power of state when we shall have a solid line of defense to throw against the ever-present danger of the highway.

Each person booking the use of the room is responsible for their own fire.

Each user is to dispose of their own rubbish and waste of any sort as we do not have any janitor service.

Each user is to make sure that the lights and fire are out, water turned off, etc., when they leave the room.

The Committee to add such rules as they feel are for the good of the room.

Balance on hand $35.44
Receipts for use of room $5.75
Total Bethel House $41.19

School Survey Committee's Report Shows Continuing Increase in Enrollment

Following are the results of the census of pre-school age children who will be coming into the Bethel schools during the next five years. Also listed are the number of tuition pupils and the present enrollment.

It is interesting to note that the average number of pupils per grade for the period of 1936-1945 was 30.

For the next ten years we may expect the average number of pupils per grade to be 60 and above, with a peak of nearly 65 per grade in 1957-58. Also from 1935-45 the average was 14.3 teachers for 35 pupils. Starting with next year there will be 17 teachers for 55 pupils — less than three extra teachers for nearly 200 more pupils.

BETHEL SKI CLUB TO HOLD DANCE

The Bethel Ski Club has voted to sponsor a "Come As You Are Dance" in the William Bingham Gym on Friday night, November 28 (the night after Thanksgiving). In addition to heralding the start of the skiing season, the club also needs to raise additional funds. As most people know, the ski tow is not a money making proposition but is run to give added recreational facilities to the town of Bethel. Since the tow rates are not much lower than comparative towns, some additional source of revenue must be found. By holding a dance and selling some of several items of ski equipment, the club hopes to raise money to pay some of the outstanding bills. Complete plans for the dance and a list of items to be sold will be given next week.

Thursday, October 30

Humble yourselves... under the mighty hand of God, that he may exalt you in due time casting all your care upon him; for he careth for you. (1 Peter 5: 6, 7) Read II Corinthians 8:1-7.

USUALLY each day our cares are many: the cares of home and children, of the church, the community, the nation, and the hard international conditions; the financial problems, such as, debts, the inability to make both ends meet; poor health, old age, and the daily uncertainty of life.

We need not bear these alone. We can bring them all to the great Burden-Bearer, Christ Himself. He has said to us, "Come unto me, all ye that labour and are heavy laden, and I will give you rest."

One burden, however, we often keep—self. Self is the cause of most of our cares. Self must be laid down, for the promise is: "He careth for you." How do we do this? Much like a little child, who is tired from carrying something which has been above his strength. He simply drops it and nestles in his loving mother's arms. If thus we bring ourselves to Christ, we rest in His love and know the joy and happiness of contentment and peace.

Prayer

Heavenly Father, we come to Thee with all our cares and burdens and self. We seek of Thee rest and strength. Grant us the comfort and joy of Thy fatherly love. In Jesus' name we ask it. Amen.

Whom God Hath Joined

By REBECCA OSBORN

"I'm leaving him," she said, sweeping a long strand of grey hair from her forehead with the back of her wrist.

The Reverend, Mr. Dicer, sitting near her on the front porch of the farm house, reached up to straighten his collar, a habit he carried over from pre-seminary days. It was a useless one now that he wore a stiff clerical collar.

"Now, Mrs. Flounders," he began, slowly, "think it over. Think of your years together."

"Years together—humpf! They'd have been better spent apart."

"Think of your children and how hard you and Martin worked to bring them up to be God-fearing men and women."

Mabel Flounders crossed her arms firmly in her lap.

"That's just it. Work—hard work—day and night."

Mr. Dicer thought a moment. What could you say to a woman who was about to leave her husband after 24 years of married life? He looked squarely into her eyes.

"Martin loves you," he said. Mabel stood up and started for the door.

The Reverend, Mr. Dicer, got up. He took her arm.

"Wait a minute, Mabel. Have you thought of what Martin will do without you? Who'll cook for him all winter?"

She pulled her arm away. "Let him cook for himself!"

"But what will he eat? It's just the beginning of canning season. If you leave him now, he won't have anything on hand this winter."

"I don't care!"

"Look, Mabel, look at those apples—all those beautiful apples. We've had a wonderful season."

haven't we? Can't remember apples like those since I was a boy."

"Why don't you put some up for him before you leave? Just a few jars of applesauce, say. Something your husband won't have to cook for himself this winter."

He saw that she was listening. "Won't you do that, Mabel, in memory of those 24 years?"

"I suppose I could."

"You'll never be sorry."

"No," she said, "I'll never be sorry."

As he walked across the lawn to the road where his car was parked Mr. Dicer smiled. It had come to him all at once, Mabel Flounders was a hard worker. Let her start on the canning and she'd want to see it through. And by the time she finished they'd have made up. He was sure of that.

Two months later Mr. Dicer guided his old car through the rut of the narrow road that led to Martin Flounders' farm. They'd had several frosts.

He parked his car and got out. As he went around to the back of the house he saw her. Mabel Flounders was coming out the back door with a basket of wet wash.

"Good morning, Mabel," he called out.

"Morning, Reverend," she said. She was still wet from the wash, then she reflected, "I'm still here."

"I see."

"It was that applesauce done it."

"Yeah," she went on, "Martin hates applesauce. Says it's baby food. I only done it to spite him."

"And then you regretted what you did?"

"O, no. That wasn't it. But after all that work I couldn't stand to see the applesauce go to waste."

The newly crowned A. D. A. group is trying to sell their candidate on the grounds that he is an "average" person and uses an excellent choice of words in his public addresses. If this group really wants a man to run for country whose chief claim to distinction is his literacy, then surely they could find a much more suitable candidate in a man such as President Conant of Harvard.

If they really want an orator to govern our country, they might well choose former Governor Cullen of Massachusetts, one of the best orators in the nation. If they feel that a comedian is best qualified to deal with the vital problems of our nation in the critical days ahead, we suggest such experts as Milton Berle or Red Skelton. —Wellesley, Massachusetts, Townsman.

I have heard a lot of people curse the democratic administration and I can remember hearing others curse the republican administration. I have just one answer to give these people that curse the administrations that they are opposed to and that answer is that if the people that are doing the cursing had worked hard enough to vote and to get their neighbors to do the same, they would not have had to suffer under an adverse administration.

Just think, less than 50% of the eligible voters voted in the last presidential election. What do you think: that the boys that are over in Korea would think if that happened in this election? Those boys are protecting that same right that we the American people are throwing away.

I believe that old Pat Henry, who used to say something once in a while back in the early days of this republic, had something on the ball when he faced an adversary in debate in congress and made this statement, "I may not agree with what you may say but, I will defend unto death your right to say it."

Please consider seriously the issues that are presented by both parties or men and their vote for the man that you firmly believe has the best program to insure the life and health of these United States of America. Remember, if you do not vote, that is what the opposition wants as that makes one less vote for them to overcome.

Too many people call voting a duty and to me that is the biggest sin that has ever been mouthed by a human being. Voting to me is a privilege and, I believe, should be considered so by any clear thinking American.

Regardless of race, creed or color, do yourself a favor and vote.

I guess that I have been on the soap box long enough so I shall sign off with this reminder. If you use your car to take you to the polls, be sure and get "that good Gulf Gasoline" to that you will get there before they close.

I think that this week is the time to forget my product as far as advertising goes and to plead with anyone that is foolish enough to look at this ad to go to the polls and to vote in this election.

Contrary to some people's thoughts, I am not campaigning for any political party. I do have my firm convictions and am not at all hesitant in voicing them.

It does seem to me to be a crying shame that people are throwing their one free privilege away. Just think, if I were giving gasoline or oil away, I'll bet that I would be swamped with customers but these same people throw away the most valuable heritage that they have and that is the right to vote as they please.

How Can I Avoid Ostentation?
Lesson for Matthew 6: 1-8, 16-18.
Golden Text: Matthew 6: 6.

OSTENTATION is a great enemy of vital piety and of a wholesome influence of one over others. Jesus condemns ostentation in giving, praying, fasting, and in all living.

An old minister told of a man in a large city who had succeeded in his business, and was well off in the world. He was a member of the local church, and he had given a large sum of money to the church. He was a very generous man, and he was very popular in the church. He was a very successful man, and he was very well off in the world.

A. NEWS LETTER - 100 in active service for 31 days or more after April 25, 1951, who are insured under National Life Insurance or U. S. Government Life Insurance term policies, may apply while in active service for waiver of all premiums and keep their insurance in force, according to M. L. Stoddard, manager of the A. Center, Togus.

Under the waiver, Stoddard said, premiums falling due will be waived for the duration of the person's active service and for 120 days after separation or release from active duty. To keep such policies in force thereafter, veterans must resume full premium payments.

Any such term policy that expires while it is under waiver and the insured is on active duty will be automatically renewed for another five-year term, Stoddard stated. Veterans with this type of policy must begin payment of the other premium for their automatically-renewed policies within 120 days after their separation or release from active service.

In the cases of those GTS who do not apply for waiver of premiums on their NRIL or USGLI contracts, and whose policies expired while they were in active service after April 25, 1951, VA can let them the right to apply for insurance in the same amount of time as the expired policy. These veterans must apply to VA within 120 days after separation of service from active service; submit evidence of good health through a medical examination and pay the waived premiums when due.

It was a complete surprise to Miss Stevens. She received many gifts including a birthday cake made by Mrs. M. Foster. Other guests were Mrs. M. Foster, Haines and Mrs. Leona Gaudin. Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Howe have purchased Lewis Smith's house on the Rumford road.

TAX TEST ANSWERS - 1 In these days of (a) mention of billions of dollars it is surprising that all the gold is worth only this amount. That's only a fraction of what the government plans to spend in the current fiscal year.

2 (b) The higher figure is right. This is the highest cost of operating government for us in the history of the country.

3 (c) 21 percent in 1950, amounting to over $2,146,720. The federal government pays no taxes on its land.

4 All three are correct and the fact of Agriculture spent $100,000 of the taxpayers' money in a survey to find out.

MAINE LAD NAMED FFA "AMERICAN FARMER" - Malcolm P. Egan, of Ashland, was named the "American Farmer" degree at the national convention of Future Farmers of America in Kansas City, Missouri. Also, what's the annual interest charged on such loans? A veteran may borrow up to 60 per cent of the reserve value of his policy. If the policy has been in force for a year or more the interest rate is four percent per year.

GOULD ACADEMY

GOULD AND BERLIN TIE

A battered Gould Academy team came back from Berlin last Saturday still maintaining an undefeated record but they had to settle for a tie with the Mountaineers. Captain Erwin Bacon and Herbert Adams saw no action as they were on the injured list and Frank Linnell suffered a dislocated shoulder early in the first quarter which kept him out for the remainder of the game. Numerous other injuries had men sidelined for portions of the game.

Both teams produced defenses that had the offense well under control. Neither team got beyond the opponents 30 yard line. The great portion of the playing was done at midfield.

Commerce Secretary Sawyer said recently that taxes and government spending should be reduced next year. Mr. Sawyer said "everybody" including himself, favored a reduction in federal spending. A lot of us have favored a reduction in federal spending. A lot of us have favored it for years, and it's good to learn that at least one cabinet member has found it out. Bethel (Maine) Gazette.

"I REMEMBER" BY THE OLD TIMERS

From Mrs. Holland Brewer, Mc Kenzie, Tenn.: I remember camp meeting at Chapel Hill and camped there in tents. Our beds were built like a scaffold. Head was higher than feet. We had clean wheat straw and over that a feather bed. We carried water from a spring. Services were held in a big shelter tent with log plank seats and straw on the floor. There was a pulpit and a mourner's bench.

From Mrs. James Miller, Tomkinsville, Ky.: I remember when there were no stock laws. The world was a pasture. People marked their stock and turned it out. My father's stock mark was a split in the right ear and a fork in the left.

From George W. Davis, Ottawa, Kansas: I remember in 1977 when I rode a horse to the post office and general store at Old Diamond, Kansas, with an empty kerosene jug on one side and a whiskey jug on the other, and paid 65 cents for gallon for kerosene and 45 cents per gallon for whiskey.

From John H. Olson, Rice Lake, Wis.: I remember when we used to peel and core apples and cut them into one fourth inch quarters and string them on cords about 15 inches long. We tied the ends together and hung them on the clothes line to dry in the sun.

From Mrs. Ray Jones, Miami: Before house screens, my mother made fly bushes by folding newspaper lengthwise over a fly stick. She fastened the paper securely to the stick by sewing it, using four sack twine for thread. While we were eating, some member of the family stood and waved this bush over the table to scare the flies away.

EXTENSION MEMBERSHIP DUES ARE DUE

This is the time to join your county Extension Association for the coming year, points out Richard C. Dolloff, of Orono, secretary of the Maine Extension Association. Current members may renew their memberships by paying their dues of one or two dollars to their membership chairman or to the county Extension Association offices. New membership may contact the same people. More than 21,000 men and women joined the Extension Association in Maine for 1952.

ECONOMY

In Roosevelt's first Presidential campaign, in 1932, he said that he would reduce the cost of the Federal government by 25 per cent. How well did he keep that promise?

Now, in 1952, we have Stevenson saying that he would keep Federal spending down to the "bare bone."

Is history repeating itself. — James Emery Brooks, in the Montclair, New Jersey, Times.

EASY DOES IT

BADLY neglected or soiled furniture will benefit if you use an all-purpose wash made by adding 2 tablespoons of linseed oil to 1 tablespoon of turpentine mixed in a quart of hot water. Wring a soft cloth out in the mixture and wash a small area. Dry immediately with a soft cloth. Go over the whole piece of furniture, doing a small area at one time.

When washing furniture with an all-purpose mixture does not help, try dipping a cloth in lemon oil, then in rottenstone and rub over the furniture, in the direction of the grain. Wipe off immediately with a cloth dipped in lemon oil. Polish dry with clean flannel, then use furniture polish.

Hot dishes set on wood surfaces leave white spots. To remove these, dampen a cloth in oil of camphor or peppermint. Rub spot and allow to dry, then polish with furniture polish.

Many scratches on polished wood surfaces can be removed by using extra furniture polish on these portions.

RECIPE OF THE WEEK

Marinated Chicken Wings
(Serves 4)
1/2 cup melted butter or oil
1/2 cup lemon juice
2 tablespoons chili sauce
1 teaspoon grated onion
1 teaspoon salt
1/2 teaspoon prepared mustard
1/2 teaspoon curry powder
Wash chicken wings in cold water, dry carefully and place in large bowl. Combine remaining ingredients, mixing well and pour over wings. Stir to coat wings with sauce. Let stand for 1 hour, then place in shallow baking pan in a single layer. Bake in a moderate (350°F.) oven until tender, about 45 minutes. Wings may be turned two or three times.

Cigarette burns on wood finishes should be treated as follows: wrap fine steel wool around the smolder and of a pencil and rub with grain of wood to remove burned part on both off surfaces. Apply acetone and let dry. Apply carefully with a very fine sand brush some shellac and let dry. Repeat the operations as necessary. Then use furniture polish to finish.

LOW DOWN FROM HICKORY GROVE

My lecture today is devoted to "Free Enterprise" and what it means. For a short and snappy answer, Free Enterprise means your right to work as hard as you choose—do as you choose with any profit you can wrangle—go to work early or late.

I know of no one in these parts around Hickory Grove who is not for Freedom—and Freedom and Free Enterprise being as near alike as peas in a pod and the same as twins, I can imagine no one who could cook up an argument against free enterprise—nobody except some slick duck looking for a free ride on somebody else's savings. Like the oily gent in Great Britain who confused the voters with flowery talk of taking over in the name of Govt. the mines, and the dentists' chairs, and the phones and railroads. And if any of you folks owned a truck, or are a dentist and a Govt. gent drove up in his Cadillac and said, "move out, Bud," you would not be happy. You would then know what Free Enterprise was—and what Socialism is.

We are becoming mired in Socialism far deeper than up to our knees in our own USA. We need not smile or snicker or guffaw at Europe. Any gent who says socialism is not hovering over us is talking through his skimmer—he is an ignoramus or a prevaricator, or, as Henry would blurt out, "a fool or a liar"—and it is time we caught on.

Yours with the low down,
JO SERRA

FALL EVENING HOURS BRING MORE HIGHWAY DEATHS

Between the daylight and the dark is known as the killer hour during the Fall months, motorists were warned today by the Automobile Legal Association.

Deaths from automobile accidents in October and November between 4 p. m. and 8 p. m. almost double those in summer months," Phillip C. Thibodeau, general manager of the ALA, warned.

Slippery leaves and glazed roads are responsible for many of the highway deaths he said.

Finding out that both pedestrians and motorist deaths reach their peak in October and November, he advised motorists to "drive as though an accident was about to happen" and pedestrians to "act as though each year were a killer."

The only ways to avoid accidents he said are:

1. Slow down
2. Obey all traffic regulations to the letter
3. Make sure you have good brakes on your tires
4. Make sure your brakes are adjusted properly
5. Have your headlights focused properly

GRASS ROOTS OPINION

Montrose, Pa., Independent: "Young men and women should be especially interested in politics, for it is they who will be forced to bear the great burden of our national debt. In the years to come when they are endeavoring to provide homes for their families or build up successful businesses, Federal income taxes are going to take from them months of labor out of each year."

Fort Sumner, N. M., De Baca County News: "If all the taxable property of New Mexico were sold for the assessed valuation, the people would be $15,915,000 of raising enough money to pay their share of the Federal debt! This was the disclosure contained in a state-by-state survey of the ratio of the dangerously high Federal debt to personal and real property."

Bedford, Ind., Daily Times-Mail: "Inflation is simply putting more currency into circulation, which kicks down the value of money, and kicks up the prices of things we buy. In the years before 1929 there used to be about $5 to $6 billion of money in national circulation. Today there are between $28 and $30 billion serving the same purpose. There is no need to look further for the cause of high dollar prices. Every year, since 1933, except one, the nation has spent more money than it has taken in."

Our country is UNLIMITED

A few are saying the frontier is gone, that there is no place where a pioneer can strike out on his own. They are the kind who wouldn't have taken the Oregon Trail because they didn't have the imagination to see where it would lead to, or the guts to get there. The rest of us know there are—and always will be—trails to be hacked through the unknown by pioneers of the land and of the mind—and Americans who would rather make a new trail than take an old highway.

THE AMERICAN I Like

George Peck

EDITOR'S NOTE: G. Peck is Chairman of the Board of Labor - Management and Executive Editor of the publication, PARTNERS.

Tuesday, November 4, Day. The deluge of cantory will be ended and citizens will flock to the polls in unprecedented numbers to express their views. Numbered among them will be your humble author, exercising his privilege to elect the names of those he votes.

First, I would like to see when granted the right joined hands with Democracy, worked and voted for happy candidates and a happy about that political party for many a year. party is no longer the great ally of the American economy. It has been captured by a so-called liberals who an instrument to completely ruin our American economy.

The time has come for American citizen to put above party. Following the a great Democrat and American former U. S. Representative, former U. S. Senator Associate Justice U. S. Court, former Economic Secretary of State, former Governor of South Carolina—James F. Byrnes. I do not I, too, propose to play above party and that I for General Eisenhower.

As have millions of my Americans, I have listened to a barrage of oratory which has us in recent weeks over and over, and out of the of conflicting statements and promises made by each of both major parties, have the following conclusion: Re Korea—Still continued whether we should have on this "Police Action" I that having done so, we bring it to a victorious conclusion. General Eisenhower, with his successful military career, is the logical choice to lead our nation into a minimum cost of lives and Re Taft-Hartley—Governor Levenson has declared for repeal of this law. General Eisenhower has declared for its retention with certain amendments. Re Taft and ex-Sen. Harold Stassen of the law repeatedly stated that certain amendments in order, but that the protecting workers from another employer or labor boss retained. In my humble opinion, the law is a "Bill of Rights" and its main provisions retained. I string along in his stand on this law. Re Free Enterprise—Gov. Levenson has stated that the amount of electrical power is left to private interests. Where they cannot cope with situation for the other hand, General has suggested a program of federal government, government and private industry where private interests are not to handle the job alone. As to the two, on this particular subject goes to Ike. Re the Washington Mess—Gov. Levenson recognizes the situation at Washington and promised to clean it up. In the end he is sincere. The Governor what has transpired at Washington is that he could not do the job. His nomination to lead his party, upon what he could not entirely do back.

As a case in point, Gov. Levenson was opposed to President Truman participating in his campaign. But owing his nominal seat in part to the "Miss Mauer," he withdrew his opposition. The Governor is above a gentleman and how he must write at the gutteral campaign Harry is conducting in behalf. As President Truman has stated his determination to clean up the mess after out of office his first act is a "Wellfare State" it is with to hope that, if elected, Truman influence will not be to harass and plague Adlai Stevenson.

On the other hand, General Eisenhower can tackle the job with a free hand. He really can't be rascals out. A Republican Governor expressed the case must be that he said "Regarding the situation at Washington, the election of Levenson to succeed Mr. Truman could be like leaving the well on the table and just change the safety pin." And so, as the candidate ready to clean up the mess

HARRY'S "WHIFFLE-STOP" TOUR

In the light of Harry's complete change of heart about the recent campaign tour he called a "whiffle-stop" tour. Whiffle, according to our dictionary, means to change from one opinion or course to another, to be evasive, to waffle.

President Truman has been giving us a first-class display of whiffle. His current trip has found him shifting at every whiffle-stop, and he is proving himself to be without peer as America's whiffle whiffer.

And the result is that the time spent in whiffle is being whiffled at with expense. Hated that Minnesota News.

Brownies

Troop 2 Brownies met Wednesday afternoon with their leaders, Mrs George Parsons, Mrs Dana Douglas Jr. and Mrs Charles Freeman. The girls observed Founders Day which is Oct. 31, the birthday of Juliette Low, the founder of Girl Scouting in the United States of America. Donna Rice presented the group with a beautiful birthday cake for this occasion. All members joined in a silent prayer in memory of Juliette Low.

Our Halloween Party then got underway as each girl appeared in costume to have pictures taken. "Queen Tell-All" from "Goldilocks" arrived, but was unable to see into her crystal ball, due to the snowstorm. But she did tell our fortunes. According to the Queen, our Brownie Troop seems to have a lot of fun in store for them. Believing no Halloween party complete without ghost stories we were delighted when Mrs Charles Freeman volunteered to tell us a few. Refreshments were then served by Donna Rice, Lorenda Freeman, Christine Baker and Janet Cragin. The Prize Box was most empty when the girls left as every girl won a prize for her costume, a game or a jack-o-lantern.

Brownie Troop IV with their leaders Mrs Rodney Eames and Mrs Charles Kookle met at "Nearby" following their meeting on Wednesday, Oct. 29.

As they entered the dining room they were welcomed by Mr and Mrs "Dopey" (Vivian Brown and Bill Eames) who escorted them to a beautifully decorated table in keeping with Halloween. The Brownies, eighteen in number, certainly did justice to a delicious supper served by Mrs Alfred Brown, Beatrice Brown and Julia Brown. A feature of the party was a Jack-o-lantern cake and later made by Mrs Brown. After the supper games were played in charge of their leaders. A grand time was enjoyed by all.
